PGY3 Retreat in Coloma, Michigan
Huge kudos to all the seniors who supported me during my first ED week! Dan Jia (PGY4) and Glenn Harris (PGY4) offered to help in any way they could, and Toni Cao (PGY4) and Chris Liu (PGY4) came to check in on me during back-to-back stroke code #3. I couldn’t have felt more supported! Also shoutout to Brian Stamm and Elizabeth Sugg (vascular neurology fellows) for being helpful and awesome to work with during a busy day! - Jyoti Grewal (PGY2)

Kudos to Karl Guo (PGY2) for taking over a very complex stroke code early in the morning and then doing an awesome job being highly vigilant and proactive about a very sick patient throughout the day while balancing other consults. - Rebecca DiBiase (PGY4) and Jen Fokas (PGY2)

Kudos to Martin Bauknight (PGY3) for organizing an awesome advanced boot camp! - Rebecca DiBiase (PGY4) and the PGY3 class

Kudos to Allen Barnett (PGY2) for providing thoughtful and devoted care for his patients on the general neurology service. He provides such a calming presence to his patients and their families - several have commented on how reassured they feel knowing that he is their doctor! - Toni Cao (PGY4)

Kudos to Nicholas Hac (attending) for stepping up to staff resident clinic on two occasions when other attendings were out sick. Thanks, Nick! We’re so lucky to have you back! - Kate Carroll (attending)

Kudos to Allen Barnett (PGY2) for doing an LP on a patient on the NCC consults service. - Glenn Harris (PGY4)

Kudos to Karl Guo (PGY2), Jyoti Grewal (PGY2), Sangri Kim (PGY2) and Charlie Otte (PGY2) for handling multiple stroke and ICH codes at once on a busy day! Thanks for being such amazing team players while helping each other (and your patients) out! - Toni Cao (PGY4)

Kudos to Yara Mikhaeil-Demo (epilepsy attending), Arjun Seth (neuromuscular attending), and Priya Tatachar (pediatric epilepsy attending) for coordinating a great neurophysiology course. Kudos to Dina Ghandour (PGY3) and Sheng Tang (PGY3) for making sure lectures ran smoothly and were recorded. - Jasmine May (PGY3)
Kudos

Kudos to Glenn Harris (PGY4) for doing a great job at CBLs. From a medical student: “it was one of the best didactic sessions of medical school so far and just wanted to let someone know about it! It sounded like Dr. Harris was substituting for someone, but he was a fantastic teacher. It was a perfect mix of “textbook” details and real-world application, and I really appreciated how he walked through his own frameworks for approaching certain case” - Steve VanHaerents (epilepsy attending)

Kudos to Eric Moffet (PGY4) and Glenn Harris (PGY4) for helping out with a med student career session! - Rebecca DiBiase (PGY4)

Shoutout to Charlie Otte (PGY2) for thriving on his first ED rotation and taking the initiative to follow up patient who left against medical advice. He diligently reached out to the patient's primary care provider to give them a warm handoff. - Dan Jia (PGY4)

Kudos to Sangri Kim (PGY2) for getting an inpatient discharge ready with less than an hour of notice! - Rachel Huckaby (social work)

Kudos to Benjamin Bowlby (psychiatry rotator) for helping a pedestrian in distress outside the hospital. - Jen Fokas (PGY4)

Kudos to Chris Liu (PGY4) for helping out with an LP on the general neurology service on a busy day, and taking the time to teach our med student along the way! - Toni Cao (PGY4)

Kudos to Jyoti Grewal (PGY2) for handling her second week of nights with just as much gusto and enthusiasm as her first, even when things got so busy! Can't imagine getting jam and toast with anyone else! - Toni Cao (PGY4)

Kudos to Kelly and Bethany (EEG technologists) for helping with many prelim reads and teaching us despite being busy overnight! - Rebecca DiBiase (PGY4) and Jen Fokas (PGY2)

Kudos to Elise (10E nighttime RN) for always being collaborative and proactive about patients overnight. She has helped managed many sick and complicated patients, and is always great to work with. - Rebecca DiBiase (PGY4)

Kudos to Brian Liu (PGY3) for coordinating an awesome retreat for the PGY3s! - Jasmine May and the PGY3 class
Shoutout to our residents, fellows, and faculty representing our department at the Feinberg Academy of Medication Educators (FAME) day poster session! Juan Deliz Gonzalez, Dan Jia, Toni Cao, Sarah Brooker, Hrayr Attarian, Yvonne Curran, Neena Cherayil, Katherine Carroll
